Vote On U.N. Bill Is Unconstitutional

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Vol. 61 Wednesday, November 8, 1961 HUNTINGTON, W. VA. No. 24

Controversy Will Be Aired By Student Senate Tonight

By JIM CASTO
Staff Reporter

On the agenda for tonight's Student Senate meeting is a controversial bill dealing with participation in a conference on the United Nations.

The bill was passed in a special session called by Speaker Tom Ross, Wheeling senior, last Wednesday night. However, Student Body President Nancy Wood, Moundsville senior, declared that the passage of the bill was unconstitutional because the Speaker didn't have authority to call such a special session.

President Wood then placed consideration of the bill on this week's agenda. This was in line with the Senate's usual procedure of discussing and voting on a bill at the first meeting following its introduction.

BILL FOR U. N. TRIP

The bill, introduced by Senator Suzanne Tamplin, Racine senior, recommends that the Senate appropriate $100 to help underwrite the expenses of three students who would officially represent Marshall at the meeting.

The conference, sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (C.C.U.N.), will be held in New York this Friday and Saturday. Prime Minister Nehru of India, in the United States to talk with President Kennedy, is scheduled to participate in the activities of the meeting.

Last week's passage of the bill followed a 45-minute debate which revealed strong opposition to it. The opponents of the appropriation charged that it wasn't a matter of concern for Student Senate, that there wasn't any student interest in the U.N., that $100 was too much money for such an activity, and that Marshall should be cautious of joining such an organization lest it be caught in a "propaganda trap".

STUDENTS NEED FACTS

In defense of the bill, Senator Tamplin stated, "we cannot deny that as young adults we should be alertly aware of world crises. Certainly Student Senate is in a position to investigate a program of international awareness just as it has a Commission on State Awareness. Perhaps C.C.U.N. is not the affiliation through which we will want to gain our precepts of world problems. But on the other hand, perhaps it does offer us much in the way of materials and ideas for getting the story across."

Senator Tamplin continued, "the important thing here seems to lie with the fact that we are not standing still waiting for the world, but rather by taking part in such a conference we are preparing to meet the problems which are facing our generation".

Iron Bars Do A Prison Make!

IN HER TEMPORARY prison, Mrs. Evenne Sheppard, campus Library Assistant from Ashland, Ky., awaits rescue by the Buildings and Grounds Department. She was trapped in the Library elevator when one of the building's main fuses blew out.

Ordeal Finally Ended; Lady 'In Cage' Freed

By GARY KEARNS
Staff Reporter

The song, with lyrics about "a bird in a gilded cage," came to mind Monday morning in the James E. Morrow Library. But the "bird", in this case, was a lady on the Library's staff, and her "gilded cage" was an elevator in which she was trapped.

And she had just the right kind of reading material! "Someone slipped her a play entitled, "The Desperate Hours," to while away her imprisonment.

The whole thing started at 11:05 a.m. when Mrs. Evenne Sheppard of Ashland, Ky., who serves as a library assistant, stepped in the Library's elevator.

The elevator doors silently closed. Mrs. Sheppard pushed a button, nothing happened.

Realizing that she was trapped, she signaled to another Library worker who was passing by, and the chain of events began.

Someone pruned open the door a few inches with a wooden stick. The Library matron, Mrs. Mary Smith, slipped her a folding chair and someone else came up with just the right book, "The Desperate Hours." Mrs. Sheppard settled down to read. At the same time she was making plans for her lunch, just in case she had to remain in her trap through the noon hour.

Asked about her luncheon plans, she later said that she had in mind someone handing her sandwiches through the elevator's cage-like door.

Exactly 33 minutes later, at 11:38, after a blown-out fuse had been replaced by Buildings and Grounds personnel, she was freed.

The blown out main Library fuse, which caused Mrs. Sheppard to be caught in the elevator, also plunged the entire building into darkness several times during the 33-minute period.

After her experience was over, Mrs. Sheppard said that her first thought on discovering that she was trapped was on how she was going to pass the time. She went on to say that she was never frightened or worried. It was at this point that someone nearby gasped, "But golly, it was just like on television."

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

We, the students of Marshall, wish to thank The Parthenon for allowing us the privilege of "attacking" OUR newspaper. I am referring to the letter appearing in the Nov. 1 edition.

It is perceptible that you (the editors) are being very puerile about the entire situation. One of the first things a university student should learn is to accept CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM. It is obvious that you have not yet learned that part of your ABC's.

Mr. Tweel reproves you in a nice manner and you immediately accuse him of "attacking" you. This is not so! I for one recognize his letter as one of constructive criticism. He not only reproves you for what he thinks are your shortcomings, but he offers some suggestions and a solution whereby they may be overcome.

It is evident that his letter was not an "attack" as has been suggested, but rather a letter of constructive criticism. It would now seem that in lieu of all these facts that The Parthenon owes Mr. Tweel an apology for its hasty assumption that he was attacking them.

Profiles Of The Week

Paul 'Butch' Clark

Mickey Sydenstricker

By MIKE WOODFORD
Sports Writer

Paul "Butch" Clark is possibly the most touted varsity prospect to come to Marshall since Bob Burgess. Clark is 19, married and a graduate of Huntington East High School.

The 6', 186-pound sophomore speedster has a good chance of taking the middle spot on the fast break vacated last year by Lou Mott.

Clark, an all-stater in high school, is rated as a good shot and is one of the most spectacular passers and ball handlers Marshall basketball fans have seen in several years.

Mickey Sydenstricker is a 6 foot 3 inch, 175 pound junior who is equally at home in both the guard and forward positions.

Although Sydenstricker graduated from Russell High School, Russell, Kentucky, he spent his sophomore and junior years at Marshall High where he led the team to the state class A scholastic tournament in 1956.

Sydenstricker played freshman ball at the University of Alabama, and was forced to sit out a year at Marshall. He broke into the starting five last year as a sophomore and averaged 11 points a game.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK for the Ohio University game were: Ralph May (left), senior quarterback from Chapmanville, W. Va.; and Jim Michel, senior end from Grafton, W. Va. This was the last home game for both players. They will graduate next spring.

'Fired Up' Big Green Held Lead Until 3rd Period, But Lost 14-7

By SAM WOOLWINE
Sports Writer

The Ohio University "Bobcats" took advantage of every break Saturday night, before a parents night crowd of 3,500, as they edged a fired-up Marshall squad 14 to 7, despite a thrilling last minute finish by the "Big Green".

Marshall drew first blood in the first quarter as the result of a fumble on the 18 yard line. The Big Green's half back, Millard Fleming, cracked over from the three yard stripe to start the scoring. Jim Keatley booted the extra point and the Big Green led 7 to 0.

This lead held up until early in the third quarter when a Marshall fumble was converted into a touchdown. Jim Pontuni ran 11 yards for the score. Pontuni also ran the conversion to give the Bobcats an 8 to 7 lead.

Ohio's second score came as the result of a pass interception by Pontuni. The Bobcats took only 10 plays to score with quarterback Bill Babbit sneaking over from the two yard line.

Marshall had three more scoring opportunities, but each time was stopped short of the goal. The game ended with a Ralph May to Jasper Wright pass being intercepted right on the goal line.

Another bright spot of the game was the half-time ceremony. The PKA fraternity put on a rousing display of student enthusiasm. The members of the fraternity were dressed as hill-billies and they paraded around the field at half-time on wagons loaded with hay; also the parents of the players were honored. The R.O.T.C. Drum and Bugle Corps and the Marshall Band performed at half-time also.

Eleven seniors saw action in their last home game. They were co-captains Ralph May and Rucker Wickline, Dixon Edwards, Harper Hill, Jim Keatley, Jim Michel, Bill Nardo, Malcolm Price, Stan Smith, Richard Thomas, and Jim Yoho.

The "Big Green" will travel to Cincinnati, Ohio this Saturday where they will face the "Musketees" of Xavier University.

Little Green Ends Its Season By Downing Bearkittens, 14-6

Marshall's Little Green took the Cincinnati Bear Kittens in a soupy 14-6 victory last Friday at Cincinnati. A ferocious line and great all-around team effort is credited by Charlie Kautz, head freshman football coach, for Marshall's second win in four starts.

The Little Green line, outweighed by more than 10 pounds apiece, was able to stop two of the Bearkittens' three drives in scoring territory as well as stop them on rushing. Marshall's pass defense contained Cincinnati's aerial attack to one completion in eight tries, though that once was good enough to set the Bearkittens' fullback Paul DeRosa up for his scoring two-yard plunge.

The Little Green ended the season with a record of 2-2, having beaten Marietta and Cincinnati, and lost to Ohio University and St. Xavier's of Cincinnati.

There will be a sale of used records in the Student Union today and tomorrow. The records are ones that have been removed from juke boxes and will be on sale at 25 cents each. Persons will be present all day each day selling the records.
